REPORT OF THE BOARD OF GOVERNORS.

The Board of Governors of the Society of the Lying-In-Hospital of the City of New York presents the following report of the Society for its one hundred and twenty-first year.

The work that has been accomplished by the Society during the year is set forth in detail in the subjoined Medical Report and the Report of The Ladies' Auxiliary with their accompanying statistics and attention is especially called to these Reports.

Owing to the continued generosity of Mr. John Pierpont Morgan and a few other friends, the Society has been able to continue its work notwithstanding the very heavy increase in the cost of everything that enters into the maintenance of the Hospital. The Board of Governors deeply appreciates the substantial assistance thus given and the interest thus shown in its work but again calls the attention of its friends and the general public to the fact that the Hospital has but a small endowment and is substantially dependent upon their aid for the continuation of its work and for the maintenance of its high standards. Such a situation is not only dangerous but most unfair in that the burden of carrying on this most necessary work for the women and children of our City is so largely borne by a few individuals instead of being widely distributed among the public for whose benefit the institution exists and is operated. The Board, therefore, earnestly appeals to the friends of the Society not only to increase, if possible, their own contributions but to endeavor to stimulate in the public at large a keener appreciation of the importance of the beneficent work done by the Hospital and a more lively interest in that work, to the end that a substantial endowment may ultimately be provided and, in the meantime, that the heavy burden of maintenance at present so largely borne by a few loyal and generous supporters may be lightened.

It is a pleasant duty again to record the Board's appreciation of the valuable work of The Ladies' Auxiliary, and of the continued faithful services of the surgeons, doctors, nurses and general staff during the year.

The Board also acknowledges its indebtedness to those kind friends who have during the year donated money, clothing, flowers, fruit, books, magazines, etc. thus contributing in no small measure to the comfort and happiness of the inmates of the Hospital.

The Board of Governors regretfully records the resignation, on account of ill health, of Miss Elizabeth P. Harmey, for many years Chief Nurse of the Hospital. Her contribution, in faithful and efficient service, to the work of the institution will be gratefully remembered by the Board and by all with whom she came in contact.

The Board reminds its friends that the Hospital is open to their inspection and that any visitors will be warmly welcomed and full information given them as to the details of the work and the conduct of the Hospital, upon application to the Superintendent at the Hospital building.

MEDICAL REPORT.

A record of 121 years continuous service to the community by the Society of the Lying-In-Hospital of the City of New York is marked by the completion of the calendar year 1919. During the period covered by the report for the latter year, that is to say, from January 1st to December 31st, 1919, 5324 women were admitted to the various Services of the Hospital; 3279 to the In-Door and 2045 to the Out-Door Department. The total number of confinements was 4518, or about 8 per cent. of the total babies born in the Borough of Manhattan. These figures afford visible proof of the important place occupied by this institution in the particular field to which its energies are devoted and would perhaps be even larger if the work was not hampered by certain factors over which the hospital itself has little or no control. The constantly increasing costs of administration are on a par in their inhibitive effect with the difficulty in maintaining an adequate nursing staff. An ample supply of nurses constitutes one of the essential factors in the proper conduct of the wards and the welfare of mothers and babies, and a reduction in the admission of patients must result if a sufficient number cannot be provided. The Hospital is unable to extend its work and develop a legitimate increase in the number of patients unless some means can be found to solve this problem. As the complaint of insufficient numbers of nurses is quite universal, this Hospital, which is dependent upon other institutions for its supply of pupil nurses, is necessarily handicapped in obtaining its proper quota. The allurements of higher pay, shorter hours and other opportunities offered by a business career have all served to attract young women away from what should be one of their legitimate fields of endeavor. Moreover, although the number of nurses in training has not increased, the demands for nursing services have undergone great changes. For not only is the trained nurse required in hospital and private practice but the development of other agencies of a community character have called for large numbers for the carrying out of this work. The more prolonged period of training which is now demanded by the State, before registration is granted, may have to be amended and for certain purposes it may even become necessary to develop a special course for the training of attendants for obstetrical service,—a course shorter and perhaps less onerous, that will attract young women in the hope that such education will serve them in a personal capacity as a preparation for motherhood even if they do not look forward to making use of the same as a means of gaining a livelihood. The problem is one that will require careful study in the near future in order to avoid further restriction in the work of this and similar institutions.

The medical work of the Lying-In Hospital will be found summarized in succeeding pages. In addition to the confinements there were 572 general cases admitted, including in this number women treated for various complications of pregnancy who had previously been confined in the Hospital Service. Such patients were admitted largely through the Gynecological Class which has continued to meet under the charge of the Attending Surgeons on four afternoons of each week. Only a comparatively small number of complicated cases from our own Service have been admitted, as the careful supervision of the patients in the antepartum classes serves to eliminate many of those complications which are noted during their early stages when prompt treatment serves to reduce their consequences. The rapidly extending popular interest in prenatal care calls for greater attention to the subject by maternity hospitals in general, for it is now considered essential that all patients apply at regular intervals for observation. The return of these patients has greatly increased the work of the antepartum clinic, both of doctors and nurses, not to mention the laboratory, on account of the larger number of urine specimens to be examined. But the additional outlay of time and energy is well repaid by the knowledge that such prophylaxis will ward off many serious complications and contribute to the welfare of the mother and the unborn child. It would likewise be desirable if this period of observation could be continued for a certain time after delivery, as many of the results of childbearing of an abnormal character do not present themselves before the patient is discharged and if some sort of follow-up system could be developed for maternity services it would contribute materially to the future health of these patients. No medical or surgical hospital service is now considered complete unless the patients who have been under such institutional care are systematically followed and their condition noted. Our Gynecological Class serves this function in part only as merely such women return who present well marked symptoms, and minor degrees of illness therefore escape attention. The prevention of invalidism could be markedly forwarded if all, or nearly all, our patients could present themselves at regular intervals after delivery for the possible detection of abnormalities that might be treated before they produce more severe complicating conditions. This is a problem that must be met in the near future to conform with what is being done in other surgical and medical hospital services.

The monthly conferences of the attending surgeons and heads of special departments have been resumed. These meetings afford an opportunity for the discussion of the medical work of the various Services so that all members of the staff may have an opportunity of keeping in touch with each other and profiting by mutual experiences and criticism.

The publication of the BULLETIN, which was suspended during the period of the war has likewise been resumed and we trust will not be subjected to further interruptions. The BULLETIN will contain as heretofore the scientific contributions of the members of the Attending Staff, which can thus be circulated in a compact, collected form for the benefit of the profession.

The constantly increasing attendance at the Babies' Class is again noted with satisfaction but the question of providing proper accommodations for this large number of babies and mothers is one that must soon be solved. It is most desirable to keep our babies under observation for some time after birth, as in this way the interest of the mothers is likewise retained but we find that the work is very much hampered by the lack of proper facilities.

The Pathological Department has been continued under the supervision of Dr. J. R. Losee and staff, and serves as a most efficient adjunct to the clinical work of the Hospital. The teaching facilities of the institution have been made use of during the past year by 93 undergraduates and 172 graduates. With the advent of peace and the return of physicians to their homes an increasing number of postgraduate students will be recorded the next few years, and our facilities, particularly as regards accommodations for the postgraduate students, will be taxed to their utmost.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Society has continued to give most efficient aid and support to the Hospital and acknowledgment must be made of the very important work of the Visiting Nurses. Attention is directed to the report of the work of the Ladies' Auxiliary Society in the following pages. Appreciation must also be accorded to the generosity and interest of the members of the Board of Governors in keeping up the financial support of the Hospital under adverse circumstances which developed during the past year. Demands on the philanthropic instincts of the public have been centered so much in the war work that the collection of funds for other purposes has been rendered very difficult but it is a satisfaction to record that those intrusted with this important function have not failed to provide for the Hospital every necessity demanded.

LADIES' AUXILIARY
TO THE SOCIETY OF THE LYING-IN HOSPITAL

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

From November 1st, 1918 to October 31st, 1919.

The able reports of our Committees give the number of cases relieved by our organization, the number of women visited before and after confinement, the amount of clothing given out, the number of women for whom homes or a chance to earn a decent livelihood were found; but at this time when, the war being over, our minds are free to turn from War Relief activities to the problems of ordinary life, it seems perhaps advisable to realize more clearly what is the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Society of the Lying-In Hospital, what it is trying to accomplish, by what means and at what cost.

Over one hundred years ago the Society of the Lying-In Hospital was founded by some few philanthropic men to enable women without means to obtain proper medical care during confinement. For over a century, through times of stress and times of ease, it has carried on this work which has been constantly expanding, as the knowledge of what is needed grows. In addition to caring for women in its hospital, it ought to give them medical care in their own homes—which has always been a most important feature in its work.

About twenty-five years ago a number of women who knew well how much at such times a woman needs woman's care, organized, under the leadership of Mrs. Frederic Bronson—now Mrs. Adrian Iselin—to give such help as they could to the patients of the Society both in the hospital and in their own homes. In those days Social Service had not even been christened. The idea was only just beginning. We knew very little of how to go about our work, but we knew that we wanted to give these women a helping hand. Bit by bit we found what we could do, and tried to do it, and learned—in the doing—how to do more. We began with a vague referring of needy cases to members of the Auxiliary; but there were so many needy cases! Then we realized we must have a paid agent—someone who could give all her time to it, and be on the spot when most needed.

From this small beginning our work has grown until now we try 1st, to see that no woman shall leave the hospital friendless and homeless. Our hospital visitor makes a point of seeing her, finding out her need and helping to self-respecting support.

2nd, that women confined in their own homes, and unable to secure nursing help for themselves, shall have a nurse's care and also have their homes cleaned during the time of their confinement. Our visiting nurses and cleaning women visit them and care for them.

3rd, that no expectant mother shall have to go through those long weary months of waiting with no instruction in the care she should take of herself. If she cannot come to the hospital, our visiting nurse visits her and gives her advice, and keeps an eye on her case. A mother with a new baby is a singularly helpless being, in the face of the many dangers threatening her little one. She can bring it to the Hospital Class, and the Class nurses will also visit her and show her how to wash the little one, how to prepare its food and how to care for its little ailments.

4th, we try to have clothing for mothers and babies, in and out of the hospital, who need it.

All this work is done under our supervision by a staff of 11 people—a hospital visitor with a clerical assistant; a visiting trained nurse with two assistants, who visit all the out-patients; three scrubwomen who work under their instructions; two practical nurses attached to the Babies' Class; and a woman who cuts the clothes and gets them ready to be sent to the various benevolent societies who make them up for us either free or at a nominal charge. These workers must be paid living salaries, and the Board, after carefully considering every item of expense, has prepared the following budget:

Salaries—Expenses

In-Patients Committee.....	$1880.
Babies Class.....	1740.
Out-Patients Committee.....	5236.
Clothing Committee.....	760.
Incidentals.....	200.
Total	$9816.

This calls for a total of a little under ten thousand dollars, but the Board believes that every one of those dollars is justly earned. We know that our work is worthy of this great hospital which has brought help and comfort to so many thousands of women in woman's hour of need. We would like to extend our work—there is so much more we could do if we had more money. But we do mean with all there is in us to see that every dollar given to us is used to the best advantage.

In order to enable us to do our work more efficiently, two changes have been made in our Standing Committees: First, the Babies' Class, which has been managed by the In-Patients Committee, has been put under the care of a Committee of its own, since its work has outgrown the limits of a sub-committee; and an Executive Committee has been appointed to meet more frequently than once a month and handle some of the routine questions that must be solved from week to week.

Second Vice-President.....Mrs. Morton S. Paton,

Treasurer Mrs. Junius S. Morgan, Jr.,

IN PATIENTS’ COMMITTEE

THE PRE-NATAL CLASS

All the women making application for confinement at the Lying-In Hospital are referred to the Pre-Natal Class, held daily from 2-4 P.M. The applicant is told by the Social Worker to visit the class every two weeks. She is instructed as to proper diet, exercise, fresh air, avoidance of alcohol, to drink water plentifully, personal cleanliness, daily rest, the preparation of a simple layette, etc. Then necessary shelter is provided for the homeless woman while awaiting confinement, and boarding or institute care secured for children during the mother’s stay at the hospital when there is no one to care for them during the confinement.

WARD PATIENTS.

Each patient is visited by the Social Service Worker when admitted to the hospital ward and, where indicated, her history past and present is secured. This data is reported to the Bureau of Social Investigation of the Public Charities where a record is kept of all unmarried or deserted mothers in order to establish the identity of all babies abandoned in the city.

The case is then referred to the suitable Social Agency for outside investigation when desirable. The history of a Protestant girl is always given to a Protestant Agency for investigation—a Catholic girl to a Catholic Agency, and a Jewish girl's history to a Jewish Agency. From the result of these investigations is built up the permanent relief plan.

Each case is treated individually—Some receive sufficient aid through co-operation with a single agency, others require assistance from several sources.

When discharged from the hospital, the mother and baby are met by a social worker representing the agency, which has worked on the case from the outside, and they are taken to the home decided upon, in the upbuilding plan arranged for. In some instances girls are returned to their parents or friends. When the father can be located an effort is made through the Court of Domestic Relations to secure proper support for the baby which the law places at three dollars per week until the child is sixteen years of age. The girls who are not returned to their families on leaving the hospital are given convalescent care and shelter for several months (usually six months). Later employment is found for them with the baby, or the child is boarded and paid for by the mother's earnings, or the father's contribution. Frequently the mother is enabled through her employment to provide a home, where she and the child can live together. The baby's interests equally with those of the mother are studied; the separation of baby and mother is rarely permitted.

On completion of the plan for relief, the ultimate location of the baby and mother is reported to the Bureau of Social Investigation and is recorded by them.

It is gratifying to be able to report that no baby abandoned during the past year was found to have been born at the Lying-in Hospital.

Our Social Worker, Mrs. Sturtevant, has interviewed 2,072 women in the pre-natal class. She has paid 2,615 visits to Ward patients. She has given relief to 560 cases. We have spent during the past year $86.45, and we have a balance on hand, October 27th 1919, of $108.64.

ANNETTE B. MARKOE,
Chairman.

ANNUAL REPORT OF OUT-PATIENTS' COMMITTEE

FROM NOVEMBER 1, 1918 TO OCTOBER 31, 1919.

The work of this Committee consists entirely in the home care of the outdoor cases of the Hospital. As soon as a case is reported to us, one of our nurses visits the prospective mother; we teach her how to take care of herself in regard to diet and cleanliness, and also urge her to prepare clothing for the child. We find them extremely reluctant to do this, they argue that the child may die and therefore all their material and time are wasted. After their confinement, besides our nurses, we provide cleaning women, who wash and cook for the rest of the family. We have often found the mother out of bed, alone with several small children and doing all the household work.

From October until February we had three nurses and three cleaners. Since then owing to the shortage of nurses and the very high salaries they were asking, we were obliged to reduce our staff to two nurses. This has greatly handicapped our pre-natal visiting, and I feel we should make every effort to continue that very important part of our work. Many women fail to come to the Hospital for their monthly examination and it is only by the visits of our nurses that we are able to report to the Doctors any abnormal conditions, thereby preventing serious future trouble.

The nurses had 1670 cases, where they made 437 pre-natal, and 3768 post partum visits. The cleaning women made 2105 visits. Their work this year has been exceedingly hard owing to several conditions. We found however very few destitute cases during the past year.

Among those given relief:

R————— F—————. Family being aided by Ladies' Auxiliary of Bellevue Hospital. Woman 8 months pregnant and very anemic. The home was so filthy we were notified by Bellevue they were unable to clean the place. We not only sent the cleaner before her confinement but had to continue sending her there daily for ten days afterwards. The nurse made six visits and provided clothing for both mother and child. The case was then retaken by Bellevue.

Relief given D————— M—————. Rooms meagrely furnished and not sufficient clothing to keep patient warm. Patient a mother of three small children. Cleaner went daily for ten days. Nurse made five calls, provided blanket and clothing for mother and child; also succeeded in preventing them from being turned out of their rooms.

Relief given to R————— D—————. Patient mother of 8 children. Father does not support family, refuses to work. Home in abject filth, children all underfed and hardly any clothing on. Nurse made five calls and cleaner went daily for eight days. The case was then turned over to a private Jewish organization.

ALICE GRAY,
Chairman.

REPORT OF CLOTHING COMMITTEE

FROM NOVEMBER 1, 1918 TO OCTOBER 31, 1919.

The Clothing Committee begs to report that during the past year (November 1, 1918 to October 31, 1919) 2409 garments have been sewed, of which 579 were given through the In Patients' Committee to patients leaving the hospital, and 1320 were given to the Out Patients' Committee for its work with the out-patients. We have supplied 500 unsewed garments, such as babies' bands and binders; 88 babies' blankets; and 2499 garments for use in the wards; these last are made from material supplied by the hospital.

Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Morgan have again given us a large number of babies' caps. Mrs. Parsons donating 42, and Mrs. Morgan 206. We have given out 88 during the year.

We have on hand 3602 sewed and unsewed garments, and of our appropriation of $980 we have a balance of $202.04.

The following societies have kindly co-operated with this Committee in making up garments:

St. Thomas' Church House
Church of the Holy Communion
Calvary Church
St. George's Church
All Angels' Church
House of Industry

In April it was decided that the cutter employed by the Auxiliary should come only three days, or equivalent time, each week instead of daily, as there was not sufficient work to occupy her every day, and her health did not allow her to continue so steadily at work. This was arranged with the understanding that the cutter should be paid one-half of previous salary.

FRANCES T. PENNOYER,

Chairman.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE

The Ways and Means Committee begs to report that, in pursuance of the directions of the Board of Managers, it had a conference in the spring with two members of the Board of Governors, at which it was concluded that it would be wiser for the Ladie's Auxiliary not to make any general attempt to raise funds this year, in view of the proposed drive for the General Hospital Fund proposed for the autumn.

Under these circumstances, it was decided that it was better for the Board of Managers of the Ladie's Auxiliary to undertake no entertainment. THE BABIES' CLASS.

Dr. Coolidge, the head of the 5th Floor Babies' Class reports that 4,621 babies were brought to the class for treatment. There were 759 new cases. Miss MacRae, the nurse, made 1062 visits to the homes, and Miss Grant 516. 10 premature single babies and 7 pairs of premature twins received treatment. The smallest premature baby who was ever cared for in this class weighed 2 pounds and 2 ounces when she was admitted to the class at the age of two weeks. Our nurse called at the home every morning for two weeks, gave the warm olive oil rub, dressed the baby in one of our premature suits and instructed the mother in the care of the child and how to prepare its food. This baby was brought to the class every week to be weighed and examined by the doctor. Now, at the age of three and a half months it weighs 8 pounds and 7 ounces. 48 mothers who were very poor and who had undernourished babies were given milk for several weeks at a time. The milk was supplied to them from the fund given by the Ladies Auxiliary.
